Tuomikko Theatre's Repertoire:

SURU PUSEROSSA - Sorrow shirt

When Troll loses his friend Bunny the grief is so huge that his shirt turns black. The recovering process starts and during it emotions vary, food is of little interest and laughing makes one feel guilty. As the seasons change sadness slowly starts to loosen its grip and the shirt starts to lose black pieces until there is left the last nostalgic piece, a memory that will never disappear.

This speechless puppet theatre production is a beautiful story that is composed throughout with equally beautiful music. It gives hope to recover from sad incidents. The diversity of sorrow becomes understandable and easy to approach, safely and gently like in a warm hug.
